OUR WORTHY DIRECTOR

Dr. Rajee N. Kumar

FROM THE PRINCIPAL'S DESK

Mr. Prashant B. Parashar (Principal, N.K Bagrodia Public School, Rohini)

"Education is the manifestation of the perfection already in man"

We at N.K. Bagroda Public School, Rohini strive to achieve excellence which lies within us. The school aims at the holistic development of the child. The students come across multiple challenges in their day to day life. They have to exercise mindfulness in grappling the vagaries of life. So, the Newsletter gives opportunities to students to vent out their creative energies and create awareness about the academic and co-curricular activities taken up in their Alma mater

FROM THE HEADMISTRESS'S DESK

Ms. Jyotsana Sharma (Headmistress, N.K. Bagrodia Public School, Rohini)

"India already has the world's largest higher education system with over 1000 universities and its presence in the global education arena will ensure that it reaches newer heights. India ranks well regarding the best education systems in the world. According to a CEOWORLD survey, with a quality index of 59.1. Moreover, the country is considered to have the most challenging Mathematics curriculum worldwide and the toughest exam, the IIT-JEE.

The modern curriculum comprises a holistic learning approach and doesn't just limit itself to core subjects. We at N.K.Bagrodia Public School, Rohini tend to focus more on acquiring skills in technology, communication, critical-thinking and problem solving.

There is a lot of emphasis on cultural studies and society, which helps children understand the problems that many communities face and they get an idea as to how they can use their knowledge for the betterment of the same.

There is also equal emphasis on extracurricular activities and cocurricular activities to help build a student's personality and work upon his innate strengths. Our newsletter is a reflection of the hard work of our students and teachers and is a way to communicate with parents whose unstinted support is reinforcement to our teaching. I wish everyone a very HAPPY READING!

A WORD FROM THE ALUMNI

Parth Munjal (I.T. Engineer, Amazon)

This school has given me some of my fondest memories along with countless friends. From academics to sports, I always felt the support of all my teachers and that is what I believe helped me excel in both these aspects. I can still remember all those fun lunch breaks, football tournaments, school trips and even the stress before board exams but in the end all these moments and the people I met here together contributed to this amazing experience.

N.K.B.P.S laid down the foundation stone for my growth. I still feel nostalgic remembering the years I spent here. This school nurtured in me the confidence to face the outside world and to go in the direction of my dreams. The knowledgeable and kind teachers not only gave me academic knowledge but also taught us important lessons to grow as an individual. Moreover, I'll always cherish the amazing memories and friends I made during my journey here.

Forever Grateful!

This is my school and as a student, i love this place.

This is a wonderful place to study in and excel in the co-curricular activities. Though the focus of these activities are more towards the Indian classic, the skill and experience of the teachers is unmatchable. We have a high quality of education where the main aim is towards success.

Personally, I recommend the school as it is so cool.

One of the oldest schools in the location. As an alumni to the school I am proud to be a part of it and I still hold the same respect for the institution. Might be a school which is not well known in the city as nowadays some "commercial" schools but I am sure the school still holds true to its motto.

This school is amazing in terms of provisions for scholastic as well as co-scholastic activities. Also, the technological and technical inputs provided by the administration serve the purpose of cherry on the cake.

Experimental learning and blended learning are the major features of edu edge learning.

The motivation for english usage is kept high by keeping the student at the centre of learning and involving them in a variety of games.

The act of children taking up complete ownership of their learning can result in a sweep of knowledge for themselves.

Students from class VI to IX have seen a vast improvement in their vocabulary, oratory skills and eloquence. Their confidence and fluency in the English language has also grown by leaps and bounds.

Playing is my hobby, Whether cricket or football. I play with everyone, Short or tall.

I'm happy if it's out or if it's a four, We want enjoyment less or more. It's the team spirit I adore, Without sports, life's a bore.

Winning is a lottery that everyone can attain,
Give your best, even if you're in pain.

LET'S CELEBRATE SPORTS DAY!

Sports Day is celebrated to honour the sports teams and traditions. We are celebrating sports day in our school this year. Let us relish this day with liveliness. Not always do we get an opportunity to participate in a thrilling event like this! There are a variety of activities to choose from. We must have self-reliance to ace the competitions. We should practice hard and believe in our capability to win. Instead of thinking of the day as a burden, we must think of it as a chance to grow. At the end, I would like to say that sports not only ameliorate our physical growth but our mental growth as well.

So, let's celebrate Sports Day.

—Shreyanshi VI-A

Children develop a love for sports since their childhood. The physical training classes in the schools help to develop character. These are traits such as grit, resilience, and self-discipline which later become an essential part of their lives. Sports activities are known to reduce obesity among teens and adults. Sports exercises keeps us fit and healthy. It develops many good qualities like leadership, discipline, teamwork and planning.

It also helps an individual to boost his efficiency of work. One learns the spirit of accepting victory with humility through Sports. So, this Sports Day, let's play and run.

—Harshil VIII-D

SPORTS DAY

FASTEN YOUR LACES, IT'S TIME FOR SOME RACES.

GET SET RUN, IT'S TIME FOR FUN.

RUN AROUND ALL DAY, II'S TIME TO PLAY.

NO WAITING FOR THE BELL TO CHIME, IT'S SPORTS DAY TIME.

Your Inner Child

Let's bring everyone together,
Just like the birds of a feather.

Let our hearts be free,

Just like the leaves on a tree.

Bring out your inner child,

And let it go wild.

Jump into your dreamland,
And let your horizons expand.

Take out your rainbow bands,

And let this celebration be grand.

This is our day,
Let's celebrate it in a special way.

DAY!

Children

Children are life.

They are a gift from Lord, They are always adored.

The Fun I Had

Once again as I lay, I think of what fun I had in my day?.

I realised, I had only worked, Toiling hard just for some money with no worth.

I miss the good old days,
When I used to dance and play.
Used to tumble all day around,
Not caring about even a bound.

Carefree I was, freedom I had. My friends and toys were the treasure I had.

No work, No school.
When I was the main character,
I had everyone's attention.
The world revolved around me,

But now I revolve around the world clock.
Still at times,
I lay and pray,
To relive those days..

-Manya X-E

Be a Child

Be a little crazy,
Be a little wild,
At least for this day,
Let's be a child.

Forget who you love,
Forget who you hate,
Because today,
New memories we will create.

Your age doesn't matter today, Let go of your worries, Kick back and relax, Put yourself at ease.

No one should be left alone, Everyone should revel. Not the past, not the future, The present is special.

Keep aside your book, Keep aside your phone, Let your excitement show, Embrace again what you have outgrown.

-Yogita X-E

A Courageous Childhood

"In spite of everything, I still believe that people are good at heart." These are the words of a young girl named Anneliese Marie Frank. The story of Anneliese Marie Frank is among one of the most well known stories about the six million Jews who died in the holocaust. Anneliese Marie Frank also known as Anne Frank was born to a Jewish family on 12 June 1929,in Frankfurt am Main, Germany. For the first five years of her life, she lived a normal life, but after the Nazis came to power, Anne, along with her family had to go in hiding. She and her family, along with one other Jewish family, lived in the secret annexe to hide from Nazis. While they were in hiding, Anne celebrated her 13th birthday, on which she got a diary as a gift. She liked her diary very much and wrote in it every day. Anne wrote all about her life in hiding, her experiences, and the problems that she faced in that diary. The Frank family lived in the secret annexe or about two years after which, they were caught and sent to Auschwitz concentration camps by the Nazis.

The life of Anne Frank has inspired me in many ways. Anne Frank has fascinated me to the extent that I not only read her diary, but also watched movies such as 'Love All You Have Left' and 'The Diary of Anne Frank' which are based on her life. She lived in the secret Annexe happily enjoying her every moment, while knowing that her family could be taken away any day by the Nazis. This courage and optimism teaches us that we should enjoy every moment of our life. We should be happy in what we have. Her positivity and unshakeable belief in the goodness of people touched my heart.

Anne also teaches us to not take things for granted and be contented with what you have. She was courageous, empathetic, compassionate, friendly and inquisitive. These qualities in the character of Anne Frank have motivated me to inculcate these values. Anne unfortunately died but her positivity, bravery and her optimism still remain with us in our hearts.

Moral Education

Moral education in schools is a widely debated topic in the media and other forums. But why is it necessary in school?

Moral Education helps children acquire a set of beliefs and decide what is right and wrong. Not only this, there are a plethora of essential virtues which can be inculcated in a child with the guidance of moral values. A child can learn virtues such as truthfulness, honesty, charity, hospitality, tolerance, love, kindness and sympathy.

It's indeed a fact that moral education has become a ubiquitous part of the modern society. Moral values instil good habits and manners in a pupil. Moreover, they also increase the power of children's feelings and will-power which make a child courageous. It will help them to develop atma-shradda which will help them to grow, as a stem helps the flower to bloom.

In the end, I want to conclude that moral education is defined as the teachings through which a child can bloom as a flower.

I opine that moral education should be added as a part of curriculum in school.

Choose the harder way

It is easy to spend time on things futile, But harder to spend it on things that are actually utile. It is easy to hurt someone, But harder to get hurt by someone. It is easy to make mistakes, But difficult to accept those mistakes. It is easy to blame someone, But harder to thank someone. It is easy to imagine things, But harder to do those things. It is easy to break someone's trust, But harder to regain someone's trust. It is easy to make someone cry, But harder to make them smile. It is easy to point out the cons, But harder to note the pros. It is easy to lie and build a fake reputation, But harder to be true and build an honest reputation. It is easier to do misdeeds, But harder to do good deeds. It is easy to get lost,

Say No

A harmless joke or a crushing blow to self esteem? That is the question we all must ask the next time we see another bump on the log get their leg pulled.

The Oxford dictionary defines a bully as a person who uses their strength or power to frighten or hurt weaker people. It's not wrong but it's not right either. The stereotypical bully shoves people into lockers and crushes them in dodgeball. But the modern bully passes comments on your personality, critiques your likes and dislikes and makes a fool of you in the class while ignoring your feelings. All in the name of 'horsing around'. They are often well liked, funny and can pass off their actions as a joke or an attempt at being 'helpful'. The charming persona often means that no one sees the after effects of their little prank. No one sees the humiliation of their victim and how he or she obsesses over every little word wondering what part of their personality do they need to change. The developing fear of social interactions goes unwitnessed. But the worst part is often even the tormentor does not realise it. In today's social scenario, we do not realise when a humourous one liner by one might tug at the insecurities of another. The hurt might not be intentional but is still devastating. Do you know what this means? It means that at some point or another, I could have been someone's bully and so could you. We might be responsible for severely hurting someone mentally and emotionally.

But is there a remedy for it? Yes there is. The first thing that jumps to mind is obvious but overlooked, 'Think before you speak.' Consider for a moment if the words on your tongue might have an ever lasting impact on someone. Think before you laugh at someone's misery. What turns a bully into a tyrant is the lack of remorse. Apologise the next day if you think you might have said something upsetting. Ask your friends to stop you from being unkind and do the same for them. 'It is children's nature to play and get hurt. But it must also be in their nature to pick each other up and tend to their wounds.'

—Ayushi X-D

Student

"Every child is a student but not every student is a child."

Jumping from the hurdles of life and crossing the bridge, from passing school to attending college, from your first interview to following your passion, at every stage there will always be a test. Each and everyone is a student of life.

But a student in a school demonstrates life in a closed way. From passing your first grade to appearing for your boards, from participating in one activity to undertaking a responsibility.

The students in a school are supposed to appear for standardized exams in an academic year, they are supposed to be tested on their knowledge acquired in an year. But many a times children are not able perform well in these or not able to complete the course leading to stress, dilemma and frustration.

Children panic while trying to figure out a method to complete their course, cramming everything in study sessions which leads to mugged up knowledge, out of which bits are written on the examination sheet and then forgotten.

The child should understand that going into depression is not the solution, to productively learn something from a difficult situation is to solve the problem.

How many times can you laugh at one joke?
Once, twice but why do we have to cry at one thing for so many times??

We can always learn, learn from our mistakes in our exams, and put the lessons learned into practice.

"A child is a student before school, a child is a student after school and yet not any child will get a full on life's test."

—Manya X-D

THE PERFECT HARMONY Academics and Extra Curricular Activities

Academics focus on unleashing a person's full potential by educating them about 'The structural subjects of our society'. In addition to it, extra curricular activities bring such theoretical knowledge to life by providing the students an opportunity to implement their classroom learnings in real life.

The importance of such activities has been emphasized upon by various educational organizations and the government. While almost all the schools nationwide have been encouraging such activities, NK Bagrodia Rohini, one of the most prestigious ones in the capital Region, has always been on the forefront. The promotion of academics has always been one of the pillars of these schools, but this doesn't imply that extra curricular activities have been neglected.

The schools' foundation lies in promoting both mainstream academics and extra curricular activities, which has been quite evident in the hundreds of shimmering talents produced here. "The teachers and incharges have always stimulated us to take part in such activities while maintaining a balance between them and studies", remarks one of the student of the school.

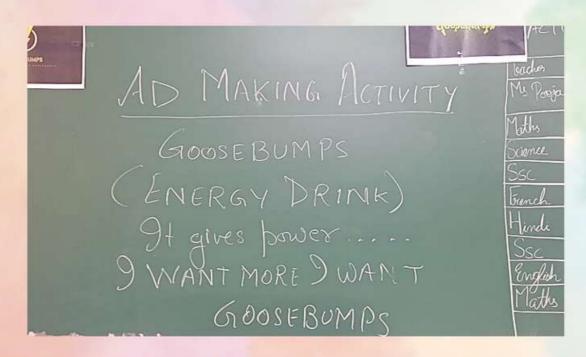

The school also felicitates both the 'Academics and Sports achievers', every year with a trophy to encourage progress in both the fields.

Maintaining a proper time schedule, adopting a positive attitude, being consistent and choosy about the activities you take part in are some of the golden advices offered to the students.
